In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.

In her International Economics course, students learn to explore the role of trade, factor mobility and finance to real world events. Her students are non-economics major, who have different levels of prior knowledge and confidence around their knowledge.